Huanglongxian Tea Culture Village is located in the Paifang Community, Jiangning Street, Jiangning District, Nanjing City, in the south-central part of Jiangning Street. It is an urban ecological leisure tourism demonstration village known as the “Jinling Tea Village” and all the time enjoys the reputation of being the “First Village for Tea

Culture and Leisure Tourism in Jinling.” The term “xian” refers to a small and steep hill. Surrounded by tea hills and bamboo forests in a hilly landscape, Huanglongxian Village produces its signature “Longhao” and “Longzhen” teas, which are meticulously hand-picked and crafted, offering a rich aroma and robust flavor.
